Laughter as a shared experience and an invitation to learning has always been an essential part of the Kane Miller mission, and that continues with picture books like Never Show a T. Rex a Book, Now That’s a Hat!, and The Wrong Fairy Tale series. Children who are passionate about the outdoors, space, or the arts may be thrilled to learn of the many career choices that exist in these areas; and others may find their interest sparked by the new additions to the That’s a Job! series. Readers of all ages will relish the stories behind the words in 365 Words Everyone Should Know; My Year of Writing’s 365 prompts will stimulate creativity as well as building writing skills.

We’re grateful to the UBAM community for all the support you’ve given our books, this past year in particular. More information is available on the book pages of our website, www.friends.kanemiller.com, along with links to produce information sheets – some with expanded comments, facts and tips to help you promote them. We continue to add additional resources to our Talk, Play, Teach page and updates to the Tools page.
